

DAMAGE SUIT IS SETTLED TODAY

CASE WHICH HAS BEEN ON THE PUTNAM COUNTY DOCKET FOR MANY MONTHS, WHICH WAS SET FOR TRIAL THIS MORNING, IS COMPROMISED—VANDALIA COAL CO., THE DEFENDANT.

AGNES ELLIOTT GETS $1,000

Taking $1,000 as a full settlement of her claim of approximately $18,000 against the Vandalia Coal Co., Agnes Elliott, of Clay county, the plaintiff in three suits against the Vandalia Coal company, dismissed all of the suits this morning.

One of the cases was set for trial in the Putnam Circuit Court this morning. The suits grew out of a lease of some coal lands to the Vandalia Coal company by Agnes Elliott. The lands are in Clay county. In 1904 the coal company leased the lands under an agreement to pay Agnes Elliott a certain amount each month, according to the amount of coal mined.

In May, 1907, the coal company began to mine the coal but abandoned the mine in December of the same year. The company stated that there was not sufficient coal to justify the operation of the mine.

Litigation was begun by Agnes Elliott soon after the mine was abandoned. She alleged that under the lease the coal mining company was required to continue mining the coal on her lands. In all three cases were filed by her. Two were brought to the Putnam Circuit Court and one was in the Clay County Court. As the result of the settlement this morning all the cases are dismissed.

Ladies, if you have a good last season's suit and wish it changed to a new and later style, take it to J. Q. Hessler & Co., Greencastle, Ind. adv

ATTORNEYS WANT CHANCE FOR FEE

G. S. PAYNE AND W. J. BECKETT, OF BRAZIL, WHO REPRESENTED JACOB L. NELSON IN DAMAGE SUIT, ASK THAT COURT REFUSE TO DISMISS CASE AT REQUEST OF PLAINTIFF.

ASKED $25,000 DAMAGES

G. S. Payne and W. J. Beckett, Brazil attorneys, who represented Jacob L. Nelson, a Clay county coal miner, whose back was broken in an accident in one of the Vandalia Coal company's mines, in a suit for $25,000 damages against the coal company, which case was venued from Clay county to Putnam county, want the judge to devise some means by which they may get some attorneys' fees in the case.

The case was set for trial early this term but a few days before time for trial an attorney for the coal company filed a petition with the court, which petition asked that the case be dismissed. The petition was signed by Nelson.

It seems that a few days before the case was to come up for trial, attorneys for the coal company went to Nelson and compromised the case. Nelson did not consult his own attorneys regarding the settlement and they did not know anything about the settlement until they learned of the motion to dismiss the case.

The settlement with Nelson by attorneys for the coal company, left the attorneys for Nelson without any recourse for getting their attorney fees. They had already done much work on the case. Now they are attempting to get the judge to refuse to dismiss the case. Final hearing in the matter was set for this morning but on petition of Payne and Beckett, Judge Hughes continued the final action until Monday when the case will be dismissed. The time was given so that the attorneys for Nelson might make some records in the case.

CLASSES DISMISSED AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

Prof. J. V. Masters, principal of the high school, was compelled to dismiss the pupils this morning on account of the cool weather. There is no heat in the school building at present as the heating system has been undergoing extensive repairs. The classes will meet at the regular time tomorrow morning and assignments will be made. If the cold weather continues the pupils will be dismissed again tomorrow after the assignments are made. The heaters have promised temporary relief by Wednesday morning and the classes will then be continued as scheduled.

PIPE LINE TO THE MAPEL OIL FIELD

The Estill, Ky., Tribune says: "Officials of the Cumberland Pipeline Co., who arrived here Wednesday, began yesterday morning to survey for the route for a pipeline from the Cow Creek oil field to the railroad at a point near the mouth of Cow Creek. The work will be under the supervision of W. L. Fuller, of Parkersburg, W. Va., chief engineer of the company. Jno. Baker, vice-president of the company, is also here. The proposed line from the field to the railroad, will convey the oil to tank cars to be shipped over the railroad, and is only to be a temporary arrangement in case the field proves to be productive sufficiently to justify the building of a line to connect with the main line at Campton. This line will also be surveyed, and the operators are satisfied their field will show enough oil to insure the building of same.

The plumbers have promised the property of the Maple Oil Co., of which local men are the directors and officials.

THIS MAN WILL STAY AT THE STATE FARM

John Godsey, the Terre Haute state farm prisoner, who through his attorney, Charley Batt, of Terre Haute, filed habeas corpus proceedings in an attempt to secure his release from the state farm, will remain at the farm. The man, in his complaint, alleged that he had not been legally sentenced to the farm. The case was heard this morning by Judge James P. Hughes. Allee, James & Allee, represented the state farm in the case. After hearing the arguments Judge Hughes found that Godfrey had been legally sentenced to the farm and his petition was denied. Godfrey was the third Terre Haute prisoner at the farm to file habeas corpus proceedings. The other two men secured their release.

CLOVERDALE YOUNG FOLKS SURPRISE THEIR FRIENDS

Floyd Duncan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Estes Duncan of Cloverdale, and Miss Lacie McKamey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. McKamey, also of Cloverdale, surprised their many friends Saturday by going to Indianapolis where they were secretly married in the offices of the Marion county clerk. They immediately returned to Cloverdale and announced their marriage to their parents and friends.

Mr. Duncan, who has been attending school at Danville, has a position in Martinsville, Virginia. Miss McKamey, the bride, had been employed as assistant postmaster to her father in Cloverdale. The young couple will leave in two weeks for their future home in Virginia.

The Swiss Bell Ringers will be at the Locust street church Thursday, Sept. 30.

Mrs. George Hinton, daughter, and son, Earl, and Mrs. Howard Harris and daughter, Pearl, attended a surprise party upon Miss Nora Zaring, who resides at Hamrick Station. There were twenty-five people present from Terre Haute, Indianapolis and Brazil. Everyone enjoyed a bountiful dinner.

C. A. Kelley left Sunday for a several days' business trip to Cincinnati.

DEPAUW ATHLETE WINS MORE FAME

BACK TO SCHOOL NOW

Ivan A. Myers, captain of the Depauw track squad and miler of national reputation, added another achievement to his string Saturday when he won third at the New York Athletic Club games at Travers Island, New York.

Joie Ray, Myers' club mate of the I. A. C., who is the National Amateur Union mile champion, took the lead in the third lap and carried off first honors while W. Gordon of the New York Athletic Club won second by a lead of a scant five yards on the local runner.

Both Myers and Ray ran in the Chicago meet given by the Illinois Athletic Club one week ago last Saturday on Stagg field at the University of Chicago. In this contest, the Old Gold runner won fourth. Myers also was first in the half-mile handicap held and second in the mile handicap races, at the Hebrew Institute meet.

Myers' career as a runner of national fame began when he took third place in the mile at the Amateur Athletic Union Senior Track and Field Meet at the San Francisco Exposition in August. Myers ran as representative for the Illinois Athletic Club.

The N. Y. A. C. contest on Travers Island may be the last race Myers will run until track opens up in the spring. He is expected to arrive home in a few days to take up his work at Depauw again.

GREENCASTLE BOY AND LAFAYETTE GIRL WED

The marriage of Harry Burnside, a popular young man of this city, and Miss Henrietta Tunghorst of Lafayette, occurred Sunday afternoon at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Burnside, on Taylor avenue. The wedding was a quiet affair, only the immediate members of the family being present. Miss Hester Goddard of Lafayette was maid of honor and Merle Randolph of Covington was the best man. Dr. Gobin performed the ceremony. The young couple left immediately for a short trip through Michigan. They will be at home at Walnut Farm, Covington.

Mr. Burnside is very well-known in this city, having graduated with the class of '09 from Greencastle high school, where he took a very active part in the social as well as the athletic affairs. The news of his wedding came as a surprise to many of his friends.

Ed McG. Walls is wearing a bandage on his head as the result of an automobile ride with friends Sunday. Mr. Walls was with C. N. McWethy in the former's car, when the machine hit a bump. Mr. Walls, who was in the back seat, was thrown against the top of the car, his head striking a top stay. As the result quite a gash was cut in his head.

The Thomas Buggy Co., public sale at the Thomas farm, on the Putnam-Parke county line today, was largely attended and stock sold well. The sale was one of the biggest pulled off in the county this year and much good stock was sold. More than 100 head of horses and cattle were offered for sale, together with sheep, hogs and farming implements.

Arnold Day, arrested in south Greencastle Sunday for intoxication, was before Mayor J. Walter Cooper this morning. Day had never been in trouble before and as he has a good record for being a steady worker he was not fined. Day, it is said, was a victim of bad associates Sunday, they being the cause of his trouble.

THE BELL JURY IS GETTING ANXIOUS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 27.—Members of the jury sitting in the trial of Mayor Joseph E. Bell apparently believe they have some rights ever if they have to be locked up for days and weeks listening to a lot of immaterial stuff about the election of 1914. So they have had the courage to protest to Judge Elchorn. If they must listen they want to cut out the half-holidays and also want night sessions so they can get through and go back to their own affairs. The court respected the request and sat Saturday afternoon.

A fair picture of the way the community views the prosecution was given by Attorney Span in a general attack in open court. The Indianapolis Star, which has assumed and maintained an independent and unbiased attitude in reporting the trial, describes this occurrence in an opening paragraph in this way: "Henry N. Span of counsel for the defense, in the course of Mayor Bell's trial Saturday, expressed contempt for the state's effort to prove a conspiracy and referred to the prosecution of the case as 'a crude affair.' He declared that in some instances, at least, the tactics of the prosecution have been 'cheap' and 'theatrical.' Span also thanked a state witness for testifying, without offering to cross-examine the man, apparently taking his testimony as a good point for the defense."

One of these "theatrical" stunts as described by Attorney Span, "peculiar" when described by Attorney Charles W. Miller, and directly charged by Attorney Michael A. Ryan as "an attempt to coerce and intimidate witnesses," was staged Saturday when one of the state's witnesses

TESTED AND PROVEN.

There is a Heap of Solace in Being Able to Depend Upon a Well-Earned Reputation.

For months Greencastle readers have seen the constant expression of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills, and read about the good work they have done in this locality. What other remedy ever produced such convincing proof of merit?

Mrs. L. Hedges, S. Kentucky St., Danville, Ind., says: "I had sharp, shooting pains through my sides and hips and dizzy spells and a feeling of languor bothered me. After using two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, the pains in my hips and sides were removed and the dizzy spells left. My health also improved."

nesses was indicted by the Marion county grand jury charged with perjury. His evidence did not satisfy the state and it was charged it did not agree with what he told the grand jury several months ago. An attempt was made by Prosecutors Roach and Rucker to introduce the fact of the indictment to the trial jury, but Judge Elchorn ruled it was not proper.

A "peculiar" feature of this activity of the prosecutor to speed indictments against his own witnesses is the fact that he keeps within such narrow limits. Only the other day Bud Gibson testified and brazenly admitted he had committed perjury within the jurisdiction of the Marion county grand jury. He also told of other serious criminal cases on which he might be prosecuted but is not. He said he had been buying votes for the republicans for the past twelve years buying 150 to 200 each election, and that the party had kept him in a political job as a reward. He volunteered he had worked for Judge Collins when he was a candidate. Collins is the judge who was put off the bench in the Mayor Bell trial on charges of prejudice and bias.

Ernest Roeder also testified the other day that he was guilty of perjury and lots of other crookedness. Neither Gibson nor Roeder has been indicted or placed under bond. They enjoy themselves riding about the city and country in automobiles when they are not sitting in machines in front of the court house waiting for orders from someone. The country witnesses who have made confessions of various crimes while on the witness stand are suffering no inconvenience or confinement as the result.

In any event at the end of three weeks' evidence connecting Mayor Bell with any conspiracy is summed up in the story told by that excellent citizen, Bud Gibson, and whom Rucker described in his opening statement as "the unspeakable Gibson." His evidence was that Bell gave him eleven one-dollar bills on election day. Roeder testified Gibson gave him $8 or $10 of this. The Chicago "students" from the "school of perjury" are yet to be heard from.

Meantime the disgust of the community with the "crude affair" is no less than the impatience shown by the members of the jury when they request somebody to "please hurry."

How to Tell a Train's Speed.
Count the clicks of the wheels on one rail (because joints alternate) for 20 seconds, and the result will be the miles per hour the train is running. There are 176 33-foot rails in 5,280 feet. The train, say, is traveling at 45 miles per hour. It covers 125.5 rails in one minute, or 2.25 rails in one second, which, multiplied by 20, equals 45 rails in 20 seconds, or 45 miles per hour. If 33-foot rails are used the results would be 49 rails in 20 seconds at 45 miles per hour, but it is fairly accurate and can be done easily with a stop watch.

MAKES A SPLENDID DESSERT

French Way of Serving Pears Will Be Found About the Best That Has Been Devised.

A French Pear Dessert.—Every Frenchwoman knows the value of combining cooked fruit with cereal for the family dessert. Here is her favorite way of serving pears: Peel, core and cut in halves half a dozen firm pears. Cook them slowly for an hour in a sirap of two cups of water and one of sugar. Meantime boil in a double boiler for about an hour a half cupful of rice in two cups of milk, with a small piece of butter and sugar and vanilla to taste. When the rice is cooked turn it into a mold. The French cook keeps the rice warm while it is setting in the mold, but it would probably suit the American taste better to place the mold on ice. When ready to serve turn the rice out on a round dish and arrange the pears neatly in a border. Pour over them the sirap in which they have been cooked, flavored, if desired, with a little rum.

Canned Pears.—Bartlett pears are considered by many housekeepers the best for canning. If not perfectly ripe they can be easily mellowed by wrapping them up in a woolen blanket, but they must be a little under rather than over-ripe for canning. To every quart jar allow seven or eight medium-sized pears, a pint of water and one-fourth pound of sugar. Cut the fruit in halves, pare, core and throw at once into cold water to prevent discoloration. Put the sugar and water first into a preserving kettle and let heat slowly; when the sirap appears remove it carefully, and as soon as the sirap boils hard add the fruit and boil all together from three to ten minutes.

Put a cloth wet in cold water around the jar when putting in the hot fruit, in order to prevent breakage, and further make sure against this by putting in a couple of pears and a little juice at a time. When the jar is full run a silver knife down the sides of it to let out the air bubbles, and seal tightly while the fruit is still hot. Canned pears should be kept in a cool, dark place.

Seckel pears, which may be canned in the same way, are best when picked directly from the tree and canned at once. If too hard both they and the Bartletts may be boiled for ten minutes or less before putting them in the sirap.

TO PREPARE SPICED PLUMS

Should Be Put Up With Sugar and Vinegar and Condiments of Various Kinds.

Select seven pounds of damson plums; wipe them with a napkin, then prick each plum several times with a needle and put them into stone jars. Place a kettle with three and a half pounds of sugar and one pint of vinegar over the fire. Break one ounce of cinnamon into small pieces, add one tablespoonful of whole cloves, four blades of mace and one tablespoonful of whole allspice. Sew these up in muslin or cheesecloth bags and drop them into the vinegar. Boil five minutes, then pour the boiling hot sirap over the plums. Cover and let stand until the next day, then drain off the sirap and place it with the spice bags in a kettle over the fire. Boil ten minutes and pour it again over the fruit. Repeat this once more the day following, then lay the spice bags on top of the fruit, close the jar and lay a piece of paper over the top. Although they will keep in jars, yet they will keep their color better if sealed in cans. Grapes can be spiced in the same manner.—Mother's Magazine.

Orange Filling.

Boil three-fourths cupful milk with a pinch salt, three tablespoonfuls sugar and one-half tablespoonful butter; mix one tablespoonful flour with one-fourth cupful milk and stir into boiling milk. Continue the boiling for few minutes, and remove from fire; add the juice and grated rind of one orange and juice of half a lemon and yolks of three eggs. When cold, spread between the two cake layers, and dust the top of the cake with powdered sugar.

Beef Cutlets.

Put the beef through the chopper (as for hamburger steak), season with sage and pepper, moisten with cream, then mold in cutlet form and broil. Serve with a brown sauce made by browning a slice of onion in two tablespoonfuls of butter, adding a little salt, pepper and two tablespoonfuls of stock. Boil until smooth, then add a hard-boiled egg, chopped in small pieces.

Baked Batter Pudding.

Four eggs, yolks and whites beaten separately, one pint of sweet milk and two cupfuls of flour with salt to taste sifted with it. Mix the egg yolks with the flour, pour in the milk slowly and then turn in the beaten whites of the eggs. Bake 45 minutes and serve with a hard butter and sugar sauce seasoned with nutmeg or lemon or vanilla.

Peach Custard.

Fill sundae glasses about a quarter full of chopped peach and then nearly to the top with soft custard. When ready to serve cool each portion with sweetened whipped cream and invert half of a chilled peach in the center.

A Good Way to Clean Pans.

To clean pans that have scorched food adhering to them, sprinkle dry baking soda in them and let them stand for a while. They then can be quickly and readily cleaned.

MATTER OF COMMON SENSE

Girl Who Would Retain Her Beauty Must Exercise Reason in the Selection of Food.

In the Woman's Home Companion. Alice Farnham Leader, a New York physician, tells how girls can keep their good looks. She says that health depends upon food, sleep and fresh air, and not upon pills and prescriptions. Her article is full of practical suggestions as to diet, sleep and exercise. Following is a brief extract from what she has to say about food:

"Rich pastry, frozen creams and candy are difficult to digest and, in addition to menaging the health, they cause positive homeliness. They contain more sugar and fat than the system can possibly assimilate, and the surplus is carried to the skin, where it makes its appearance in the form of pimples and blackheads. To avoid such foods doesn't mean giving up all desserts. Let your choice rest between light custards, fruits and ices."

"Coffee and tea are not always injurious, provided they are taken in moderation. Never drink more than one cup of coffee for breakfast, and add cream and sugar with a grudging hand. Drink plenty of water, hot and cold. Nothing will promote digestion and prevent sickness as will a glass of water slowly sipped immediately upon arising in the morning. The human body requires at least a quart of water a day, that is about a half pint every two or three hours."

"If the average woman gave as much attention to that much abused organ, the liver, as she does to her finger nails, her face would need less attention. No wonder the liver rebels and reacts upon the complexion, its spite being betrayed in the form of pimples, sallowness and black shadows under the eyes."

HOW SHE GOT SILK WAIST

Woman's Original Scheme Assured Her Plentiful Supply of the Garments She Desired.

"A friend of mine," says a clever needlewoman, "had occasion to open my shirt waist box the other day. She came to me saying: 'My, but you are extravagant! You have eleven pretty silk waists in that one box. How did you happen to buy so much wash silk?' My answer surprised her. My husband works in a bank and must wear very clean linen. He is partial to silk shirts, but as soon as there is the least break near the collar they are thrown away."

"Shortly afterward I appear in a new silk waist, for the rest of the shirt is perfectly good. He is a large man, and there is not the least trouble in getting the waist from the shirt. Sometimes I vary them by putting on a plain collar and cuffs."

"You will find that when using this idea you do not mind at all how many new shirts the man of the house chooses to buy. You will even suggest at times that a certain shirt in the window would look well on him—and, incidentally, on you."

FALL AND WINTER CREATION

The coat of this model originated by Michael of Fifth avenue is of black velvet bound in black braid. It is knee length and lined with black and white satin. With the coat a skirt of black and white striped chevrot is worn. The skirt comes to the ankles and displays the Russian boots, the new fall and winter footwear. The most striking feature of the coat is its cross combination, suggesting the work done by the noble band of women on the battlefields of Europe. The particular one shown in the photo is of white fur background. The cross is of dark fur.

High Collars.

High, unyielding collars destroy the round softness of the throat. Shun them. Every night massage the neck with a good skin food.

NEW ARMY IS FIT

French People Are Well Pleased With "Keecheenaires"

Bring a New Element Into Life at the Front in France—They Sing and Whistle as They March, Say the Peasants.

By FREDERICK PALMER.

(International News Service.)
British Headquarters, France.—The "Keecheenaires," as the French peasants call the new army, have joined "Tommy Akeens," the regular, and the "Teretoreals" at the front. Tommy begins to feel like the oldest inhabitant. By the way, he does not like to be called "Tommy," though the world persists in a word which is as objectionable to him as "Jacky" is to the American bluejacket.

The British regular did all the fighting for the first five months of the war. He had his jokes at the expense of the Territorials, who are about the same as our National Guard, when they arrived. The Territorials thought that they were made soldiers when the war broke out; but they were drilled some more and set to digging reserve trenches behind the line. In the spring they had their turn, and the Canadians, too.

"Don't be downhearted! There are still some Boches left!" the Territorials join the regulars in saying to the new army. Beside the new army the Territorials feel like G. A. R. men.

"It's kind of you! We knew that you could have killed them all off, if you had wanted to," the Kitcheners reply.

"Don't charge too fast! Wait for us to catch up!" call the regulars. "We'll wait on the Rhine!" answer the new army.

Well named is the new army. It has brought a new element into life at the front. When I heard the tramp of a company past my window the other morning I guessed they were new army men by the peculiar vigor and precision of their tread on the pavement. They bore the stamp of long route marches over English roads and of the merciless formal training of the drill ground.

If the average old-timer of the trenches had to run five miles against the average new army man he would be blown half away and the new army man would trot past the goal an easy winner.

The other night when one heard some soldiers billeted in a barn singing one was certain without asking that they were new army men.

The British regular rarely sings in camp or on the march. Neither elated or depressed he plugs along doing his day's work. As the new army flows in he will be outnumbered but unchanged.

Those new army men were singing "God Save the King" before they lay down in the straw for the night in the land of France which was all so new and strange to them and so commonplace to the veterans. Their fresh young voices were pleasant to the ear.

"It is good. The Keecheenaires sing and whistle as they march," say the French peasants.

Everyone hopes they will keep on singing.

If there is any ornament which is obsolete at the front it is the sword. The sword is the officer's symbol of authority; the sign that he is on duty. In place of it the officer at the front wears his sword belt. His sword along with countless other swords has been checked outside the cloakroom of war along with his umbrella which no one thinks of carrying at the front. You cannot tell him from the other officers except by his eagerness and his battalion insignia.

For ten months the new army had waited for its Mecca. Its soldiers have read all about the effects of modern shell fire. They know what they are in for. Learners, they came among experts expecting to be nagged a great deal as novices by the old hands, and except for the veteran regular's little jokes at their expense they have found everybody very kind.

"We need you—and there can't be too many of you," say the old-timers. "It's you who must finish the job which we have begun."

There are men in this new army who have incomes of ten thousand a year digging trenches beside a man who had not a shilling when he enlisted, university graduates taking their baptism of shell fire as privates who "pal up" with men who can hardly read and write.

"We like the Keecheenaires," said a Frenchman. "They are all classes shoulder to shoulder the same as in our army. Rich or poor, a man is nothing except the life he can give for his country."

THIS DOG CATCHES FISH

Water Spaniel Supplies the Needs of Owner and Neighbors in Indiana.

Aurora, Ind.—James C. Duggens, a farmer, who lives on the Laughery Creek, has a water spaniel that is noted along the stream for its method of catching fish. The dog has caught several hundred pounds during the last few months for its owner and his neighbors.

The dog dives into the water and soon appears with a fish in its mouth, and will repeat its diving for several hours at a time.

FLAVOR FOR WINTER MENUS

Few Things Are Better Than the Elderberry—How to Use It to the Best Advantage.

Elderberries are not eaten very widely, but they possess a delightful flavor, and the housekeeper with time—and elderberries—on her hands will do well to preserve them in several different ways, for they will furnish an unusual flavor to her winter menus.

Grape and Elderberry Preserve.—This is delicious. To make it allow equal quantities of elderberries and grapes and use a grape with decided, even tart, flavor, for the sweetness of the elderberry makes up for much tartness of grape. The grapes must be opened with a very sharp knife and the seeds must be removed. Allow as much sugar as the elderberries and grapes together weigh. Put the fruit in a preserving kettle and barely cover with cold water. Bring to the boiling point, skim and add a fourth of the sugar. Bring to the boiling point again, add another quarter of the sugar and boil for 20 minutes. Repeat until the sugar is all used and then boil until a little of the sirup jellies on a plate on the ice.

Pack into jars. Be careful not to break the grapes more than is absolutely necessary in the cooking.

Elderberry Jelly.—For this use half as much wild green grape juice as elderberry juice. Use a pound of sugar to each of juice and cook, skimming as the sirup simmers, until it jellies when tested on ice.

Elder Blossom Wine.—Pick from the stems enough blossoms to fill a quart measure when pressed down; add one gallon of cold water and steep 24 hours. Strain and add four pounds of sugar, three sliced lemons and one cup of yeast. Set away for two weeks, then strain carefully, pour into a jug and, after several months, bottle.

Canned Elderberries.—One peck of firm, ripe elderberries and one pint of strong vinegar, three pounds of brown sugar and one quart of molasses. Boil all together for five or ten minutes and bottle. The elderberries should be measured after picking from the stems.

SIMPLE PUDDINGS THE BEST

Housekeepers Are Coming to Appreciate the Merits of Dishes That Are Plain and Inexpensive.

The American housekeeper is learning to appreciate the value of simple puddings. She finds them much less expensive and more wholesome for the daily menu than rich creams and other elaborate desserts.

Puddings of rice and macaroni are easily made and inexpensive. Rice is a valuable item in the daily dietary and a pleasant one if properly cooked. Ordinary rice puddings should never be made with eggs; the addition of eggs turns the pudding into a custard, and as a rice pudding needs such long cooking the custard becomes hardened. Rice needs slow cooking for two and a half to three hours. Adding milk is an improvement and makes the pudding more nourishing.

Skim milk is often used for these puddings, but in this case suet or a good piece of butter should be put in, as when the cream has been taken from the milk it loses in fat and nourishment, though it retains much of its strengthening properties. Smaller grains, such as semolina, fine sago and ground rice will cook in a much shorter time than rice—about 12 minutes will do. Large sago or tapioca takes about 20 minutes.

A good recipe for rice pudding is: Four cupfuls milk, one-third cupful rice, one-half cupful seeded raisins if desired, one-third cupful sugar, one-half teaspoonful salt. Mix ingredients in a baking dish and cook in a very slow oven for four or five hours. It will be necessary to stir occasionally to prevent rice and raisins from settling to bottom of dish. If raisins are not used some flavoring should be added.

Poor Man's Pudding.

Two quarts of sweet milk, two-thirds of a cupful of whole rice, one cupful of sugar, butter the size of a walnut, a little salt and grated nutmeg or a section of lemon peel. Put all together in a baking dish and bake until the rice is cooked through. A shorter way to make this pudding is to boil the rice first. The sweet can also be covered with a meringue flavored with lemon juice if the peel is used in the pudding.

Pineapple Peel Juice.

Cut the peel of the pineapple into small pieces. Weigh and take same quantity of sugar. Make a sirup of one cupful of water to each pound of sugar, then add pineapple or sirup. Boil 15 minutes, slow, steady boiling. Let stand over night, then strain and squeeze in cheesecloth. Bottle and put on ice, or in a cool place. This makes a fine pudding sauce and is delicious on boiled rice.

Mint Cup.

Into a bottle pour a quart of claret and a bowl of soda water, a wine glassful of curacao and enough sugar to sweeten. Add a handful of picked and bruised mint leaves and two pounds of crushed ice. Stir briskly and serve.

Cream Cheese Salad.

Mash a cake of cream cheese, and add to it a few chopped walnuts and some chopped chives, also a dash of paprika. Make into balls with butter pappies, serve on lettuce leaves with French dressing.

RIGHTS OF WORKER

Review of Court Decisions Affecting Labor Issued.

Workmen's Compensation Laws Form Largest Group of Cases—Railroad Employment in Different Phases Another Important Class.

The United States bureau of labor statistics has just issued its annual review of court decisions affecting labor as its Bulletin No. 169. Approximately 265 decisions are summarized, dealing with the application and construction of the laws, or with the application of the principles of the common law to the rights and relations of the worker.

Decisions of outstanding importance which are reviewed in this bulletin include the final opinions of the appellate and Supreme courts of the United States in the famous Danbury Hatters' case, holding members of unions personally liable for damage from boycotts; the dissolution of the famous injunction in the case of John Mitchell against the Hitchman Coal and Coke company of West Virginia, and holding labor unions legal; and the Supreme court's opinion in the Copeage case, overthrowing the law of Kansas, which undertook to protect workmen in their membership in labor organizations. In the last named case the dissenting opinion, which defended the constitutionality of the act, is also given.

The largest group of cases on a single subject is that relating to the new form of legislation known as workmen's compensation laws. The decisions on this subject range from questions of constitutionality, decided adversely in the case of the Kentucky statute and favorably in other state courts, to the determination of definitions or of single points of dispute. In considering occupational diseases, for instance, the Massachusetts courts hold lead-poisoning to be within the state act providing for compensation for "personal injuries arising out of and in the course of employment," while the Michigan courts, under the provisions of a state law similarly expressed, hold that a case of lead poisoning is not entitled to compensation. An optic neuritis, induced by inhaling poisonous gases, was also compensated in Massachusetts, while in New Jersey the court disallowed a claim on account of eczema said to be caused by acids used in a bleachery. Other decisions relate to the mode of computing benefits, the definition of the term "casual employment," what constitutes dependency, wilful act, incapacity, etc.

Another important group of decisions in a related field is of those determining the application of the federal liability statute to different classes of railroad employments. Several cases are found which turn on the nature of the employment of the injured person, i. e., whether in interstate commerce or not. The courts are not uniform in their construction of this statute, but among the employments found to be within the act were those of a blacksmith repairing cars used in interstate commerce, a telegraph lineman engaged in repair work, workmen installing block signal systems, a carpenter building an addition to a freight shed, a laborer carrying coal to heat a shop in which interstate cars were being repaired, etc. Employments which according to the decisions were excluded were workmen constructing cut-offs for shortening interstate trackage, a hostler killed by the explosion of the boiler of a locomotive whose last run was interstate, and a switch engine fireman who was at the moment handling only interstate cars, though his work regularly involved the handling of both classes of commerce indiscriminately.

Other classes of federal laws that received considerable attention in the court decisions are those limiting the hours of service of railroad employees, and requiring the supply and maintenance of safety appliances.

Other interesting cases are one that grew out of the textile workers' strike in Massachusetts, in which the accountability of collectors of a fund intended for the relief of strikers' families was affirmed; one connected with the bridge workers' campaign against nonunion employers, involving the transportation of explosives in interstate trains; a murder trial growing out of the incitement of a strike leader urging his followers to prevent arrests in the hop pickers' strike in California; and a question of the validity of a sentence of a military court during the disturbances among the miners of Silver Bow county, Montana.

The power of an employers' association to enforce its rules is maintained in a case in which such an association was held by the court to be entitled to recover from one of its members the sum of $5,000 as damages for his defection in a struggle against closed shop contracts. In connection with this may be mentioned a case deciding the illegality of a combination in restraint of trade undertaken and carried on by an association of retail lumber dealers by blacklisting wholesale dealers who sold directly to the consumer.

The minimum wage law of Oregon is noted in this bulletin as the first law of this class to receive judicial consideration, being upheld by the supreme court of that state. From this decision an appeal has since been taken.

GIRDLE HELPS FROCK

IS A NOTICEABLE FEATURE OF SEASON'S STYLES.

Paris Has Put Forth Idea That May or May Not Be Taken Up, But Has All the Charm of Novelty.

Odd girdles and shapes are a noticeable feature of the summer styles and allow a vast field for variety, since high, low and normal waist lines are all to be reckoned with.

Paris sends over the novel sash idea incorporated in the sketch and is one that commends itself to the slender woman. A strip of the dress silk—taffeta preferably—from three and a half to four yards in length and about a foot wide is outlined along its upper edge with narrow self-ruffling. The sash ties in a large bow well over the left hip and is draped down the opposite side to within several inches of the knee, where it is invisibly caught against the skirt. The upper edge of the sash stands away from the skirt at the right side, and for that reason material like taffeta, with sufficient body, will be most successful in the development of this design.

The frock of which it is a part is quite unassuming but modish in its very simplicity. The blouse is gathered about a rounded-out neck, then finished with a narrow plaited ruffling of self material. An inside high collar of fine batiste adds the necessary touch of white. The ruffling is the only trimming used on the frock and is seen again at the sleeve ends, extended part way up the outside of the arm, and outlining a vertical slash cut up to the bust line at either side of the blouse.

The blouse and skirt both being gathered, are joined with a cord at the waist line, but an inside belting will give the needed firmness. The skirt is cut by a circular pattern and gathered slightly around the top.

If Copenhagen blue taffeta is used for this design, a splendid effect can be achieved through the use of rose-coral taffeta to line the sash and face the skirt with. Green, chamois color, or figured taffetas might also be effectively used, or any other combination of colors since the sash and contrasting skirt facings and linings is so pronounced. Cloud gray, with facings of Nile green, is another suggestion for a lovely color combination that may be applied to the illustrated model.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Use plenty of powder during the heat and you will find that it will reduce your excessive perspiration.

If you find it difficult to drink milk alone, take some bread or crackers with it. Either prevents the formation of large clots and the milk is, therefore, more readily digested. Lime water or barley water added to milk has the same effect.

Buy a good brush and then take care of it. Before you use a brush for the first time soak it in a weak solution of bicarbonate of soda for two hours. This not only serves to disinfect it from shop handling, but it sets the bristles so that they will not fall out so readily.

Very often after a long illness it will be found that the teeth have begun to decay. This is usually laid down to the nature of the illness. In reality it is more often due to neglect of the teeth than to the ailment itself. During illness the teeth should be cleansed often, especially as they cannot be attended to by a dentist.

Perspiration should not be allowed to remain on the body any longer than necessary, as it is not only unpleasant but unhealthy. During warm weather bathing can scarcely be too heating and cold baths stimulate the circulation to such a degree that the after effects are positively glowing.

RICH IN RESOURCES

Russia Faces Indefinite Future of Warfare Undismayed.

"The Most Powerful Country of the Future" Was Just Finding Itself When War Broke Out—Wealth Untouched.

Washington, D. C.—With the greatest wholesale destruction of treasure in all history taking place, with war-wrought economic losses piling up in such stupendous aggregates as no panic ever caused, the question as to how long each of the belligerents can stand the fearful strain upon its resources is becoming as important and fully as interesting as are any of those more stirring questions growing out of the purely military phase of the world war. In a bulletin just issued, the National Geographic society sketches the pre-war economic condition of Russia, which, having expended $3,500,000,000, having lost hundreds of millions of dollars in foreign trade, and cities and provinces worth hundreds of millions more, is facing an indefinite future of warfare undismayed, confident. The bulletin reads:

"Commercial and industrial revolution were stirring in Russia before the war; the work of opening its magnificent domain was being rapidly carried forward; plans for developing its almost unlimited resources were in process of confident organization; modern cities were springing up like mushrooms in rich Siberia; textile, metal and other industries were laying firm foundations, and foreign trade had been brought up to about $1,500,000,000. What has been called 'the most powerful country in the future' was finding itself, and was preparing to enter upon the centuries of expansion that it will need to exhaust the possibilities of its boundless natural wealth.

"About two and one-half times larger than the United States, with an area of 8,650,000 square miles and a population of 170,000,000, which is increasing at the rate of 3,000,000 a year. Russia's natural resources resemble those of this country, and are proportionate. It has nearly 900,000,000 acres of forest—compared with the 544,400,000 acres of the United States—much of which, even now, is carefully administered, and which, one day, will be the world's first source of timber. It has 250,000,000 acres of land under cultivation, while this country has a cultivated area of about twice as great; but Russia can expand her farm lands twenty-fold and still leave virgin land to the future. It can become the granary and the stock farm of the world.

"Scarcely two score years have passed since Russia began with serious purpose the task of her internal development. Progress, during the first thirty years of this period was hesitant. In the last decade, however, it has doubled its foreign trade, of which 56 per cent is exports; still this foreign commerce is less than half that of the United States. But Russia before the war had scarcely begun to gather steam for the prosecution of her tasks. There remain hundreds of millions of acres of fat lands to be brought under the plow; tens of thousands of factory plants to build; rich mines to be opened; great railway and canal systems to be built; millions of home-builders to be moved into Siberia, the silver East of the czar's empire, and many millions of illiterates to be educated to a higher standard of life and efficiency.

"Russia is a vast storehouse of raw materials, and must for many years remain a purchaser of machinery and manufactured goods in increasing quantities. Yet the mills of Russia consume $130,000,000 worth of raw cotton annually, and Russian iron and steel rails have already found their way into competition in the markets of the world. Germany bought more from Russia than any other three countries, and sold to the Russians about half of all their imports. These two empires did a tremendous, thriving business with one another before the war, and a great stream of German capital flowed into the northern empire for investment. England, Holland, Austria-Hungary and Italy, in the order named, followed Germany in business with the Russians. German trade promotion was thoroughly organized throughout the land, and in Riga, Petrograd and Moscow names of thousands of German firms could be seen.

"Russia, as are but few other great nations, is self-sustaining in the matter of raw materials; but the Muscovite empire is dependent upon the factories of other lands for every step that it may take in the upward scale; it is even dependent upon foreign manufactures to maintain standards in its wide-sweeping territory as high as they are today. There is fabulous riches awaiting transmutation by Russian industry, but Russian industry has hardly passed the birth."

"Frisked" Muncie Cop.

Muncie, Ind. — The nerviest pick-pocket is the one who recently, in broad daylight, "frisked" the pockets of the superintendent of police, William A. McVaine, of his annual pass to the county fair. The "touch" was made while the chief was in central police headquarters, and became known when Dr. Fred L. Bunch asked Chief McVaine for the use of the pass during the afternoon.

POLITICAL GOSSIP.

(By Willis S. Thompson.)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 27.—Two months before the workmen's compensation law became effective the State Industrial Board announced that all things were ready and there would be no delay in putting the law to work the first of September. That promise has been made good, and it has not been necessary to add any expense to make it so. In other states there has been large expense in this connection. In Indiana one additional clerk was added to the old inspection board force and the work of both departments was put under one head, as the new law provides. Being prepared in time, saved not only expense but also saved confusion.

The only complaint the board has is that Indiana employers are too proficient in reporting. They are reporting accidents which are not required under the law.

"It should be observed," says Chairman Edgar A. Perkins, "that no report is required except when the injury causes the absence of the employee from work for more than one day, and then the report should be made within one week after the accident or knowledge thereof comes to the employer."

It is also pointed out that of the 2,200 employers who have asked exemption from the law's provisions, all save a very few are barbers, grocers and the like where there are but one or two employees. The traction companies and some of the steam roads are the exceptions, but most of the steam roads have elected to accept the protection which the law provides.

One notable case is pointed out by the board. This is the Central Union Telephone Company, which has a benefit plan of its own, organized in January, 1913, for the protection of its thousands of employees, and with not a penny of expense to the employee. The benefits are in excess of those provided by the state law. In this case the company asked the board to approve its plans and to allow the company to operate under the law and still pay benefits on its own basis. This the board approved and the members believe that if one of the largest employers finds profit in thus protecting employees voluntarily, others might lose nothing thinking it over.

In case of total disability, for instance, the telephone company provides full pay for the first thirteen weeks and fifty-five per cent. for balance of the time no matter how long. The state law provides nothing the first two weeks and fifty-five per cent. of the week wage the balance of 500 weeks.

For partial disability the company pays full loss for first thirteen weeks and fifty-five per cent. for six years. The state law provides nothing for the first two weeks and fifty-five per cent. for 300 weeks.

Wage limits in fixing benefits by the state are a maximum of $24 a week, which makes the maximum benefit $13.50 a week. The company in calculating benefits has no maximum wage limit, excepting that after disability payments are made for six years the balance of the time the benefits are limited to $20 a week.

The state allows surgical and hospital expenses for first thirty days. The company allows these for full period of disability in addition to regular benefits. For "loss by separation" of a bodily member the state provides fifty-five per cent of weekly wage for from 15 to 200 weeks. The company for "loss of use" of a bodily member, not requiring amputation as does the state law, pays 156 weeks full pay, not exceeding $5,000.

In case of death the state law provides $100 burial expenses, and 55 per cent. of average weekly wages for 300 weeks. In case of death during disability period, the amount already paid in benefits is deducted from death benefit. The company pays three years full wages not exceeding $5,000 and $150 for burial expenses. If death comes during disability, benefits that may have been paid are not deducted from the total death benefit.

Sick benefits are also paid by the company as are also pensions on retirement for age and term of service. The first meeting of the company benefit committee, in January, 1913, retired two persons on life pensions which were larger than the wages they were drawing. All these sick and pension benefits were approved by the state board. This law is one of the best on the statute books of Indiana, and this one large employer goes the state just a little bit better.

The telephone board reported to the Industrial Board that of 174 accident cases reported in its territory from January, 1913, to date, approximately seventy-five per cent. lasted less than two weeks and drew full wages. Under the state law no benefits would be paid for these cases. Sick benefits were paid to 241 in the same period. The state law takes no notice of cases of sickness.

Just the Thing for a Bilious Attack.

A man is about as sick as he ever gets when he has a bad bilious attack, and it has surprised many a man to find that by taking Chamberlain's Tablets as directed he was as well as ever two days later, and that he had an appetite like a hired man. Chamberlain's Tablets invigorate the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally, they also regulate the bowels. As an agreeable laxative they are unsurpassed. ## How You Can Cut Down That Tire Bill

IF IT were not for the excessive cost of maintenance a great many more people would enjoy motoring than do so at the present time.

Owners of machines, with good cause, complain of the high upkeep cost, which has always seemed to be a necessity. One of the greatest items of the expense account is the tire bill. A machine cannot be run without tires, and tires cost more in proportion to the service they give than many other essential accessories of the automobile.

There have been many devices and attachments invented and marketed for tire-saving purposes—such as tire fillers, puncture proofs, resilient wheels, and the like, but the cost has always been in excess of the service rendered. Tires oftentimes have to be junked when there is but one hole in them, because repairs would cost more than the rest of the tire would warrant expending.

With our new equipment it is possible to double the mileage of your tires by simply doubling the tires themselves—after they have given their usual mileage. Our special machine sews two of your old casings together in a way that eliminates friction and hence reduces heat. While being sewed the tires are held in a natural position, and thus warped and ill-fitting beads and possibility of broken threads are avoided altogether.

The machine itself is designed for this work only by the Singer Sewing Machine Co., the largest in the world. Other machines can do the work but they can not do it successfully and permanently.

We invite you to inspect our plant and work and ask you to reserve judgment until you have compared our work with others.

Our machine will handle all sizes from 28x2 1/2 to 43x5. We are in a position to supply used tires in some sizes at a low price.

Some casings can be repaired at a small cost and be used successfully for this work.

Our workmanship is guaranteed and our products are guaranteed. Ask the man who has done business with us what our guarantee means.
